B-P Bits:

"Lots of Scouts have asked me whether we could not alter the test of a First-Class Scout by leaving out swimming. I know that there are lots of difficulties in the way for many boys, but that is just one of the tests of whether he is a real manly Scout or not. Swimming is such ripping good fun. It is a big thing to feel that you are master of the water, and instead of being afraid of it as an enemy who will drown you, you make it your friend who helps you enjoy life. Thank god, a very large number of lives have been saved (about 600 - 1920) by Boy Scouts who were able to swim. You ought to Be Prepared to do the same when the opportunity comes to you as it is pretty sure to do some day. There's hardly a place in Great Britain where you cannot learn to swim if you only set your mind to it and determine to make yourself a First-Class Scout and therefore an A1 man."

Collectors' Corner: 1959 World Jamboree Philippines

The World Buddhist Scout Brotherhood (WBSB) is an autonomous, international body committed to promoting and supporting Buddhism within Scouting. The WBSB began as a means to facilitate religious activities among Buddhist Scouts. The WBSB was declared active with the election of its chairman on July 21, 2004, and received consultative status with the World Scout Committee at the WSC meeting on March 9, 2009. The World Scout Committee's guidelines indicate that at least three years is required to fulfill the requirements before consultative status may be granted.
